

PROTECT NEW YORK AGAINST ASIATIC CHOLERA

New York, Sept. 29.—Health Officer O'Connell of the port of New York has issued orders that extraordinary precautions shall be taken to prevent Asiatic cholera gaining a foothold in this country.

Under his directions, Dr. Oscar Teague, director of the quarantine laboratory, has organized a corps of cholera experts.

In addition, as cholera is reported in epidemic form in Eastern Russia, Austria and among Austrian troops, the health officer has ordered that all steamships which come here from the ports on the Adriatic, on the Ionian and the Aegean seas, or from the Mediterranean sea east of Italy, and the Black Sea, shall be examined for evidence of cholera infection.

PREPARERS OF "KOSHER" MEAT GO OUT ON STRIKE

Maxwell street market had its first strike. All but two of the official "schochets," 84 in all, went out yesterday for a 2-cent increase.

The "schochets" are men who prepare "kosher" meat by their methods of killing. First, in importance, they kill the chicken. They demanded 5 cents for bleeding the fowl, where only 3 cents had been paid before.

The situation was so serious that Maxwell street housewives gave the men 4 cents a head for their work on the chickens. Then some one noised about the fact that "you can get a chicken koshered at Fox's store at 731 Maxwell st. for 3 cents." Trade boomed in Fox's place and the other shops reduced their price to 3 pennies per operation.

The men say they will strike again.

To make a French seam, first baste the seam on the right side, then stitch half way between your basting and the edges; next trim off the edges close to the stitching, remove the basting, reverse the fold so that the edges are held between them, then stitch again so that they are held between the two stitchings.
